A delicate, bright yellow beams at the eyes. The nose, attracted by the subtle colours, happily dives in searching for aromas. Exotic fruit, peach, pear, a hint of aromatic herbs. The palate entertains itself with the sapidity and freshness, in an enjoyable and informal drink, daydreaming about the blue reflections while sitting poolside or looking at the burning sunset over the beach, with the sound of the tide washing up in the background. "It's not that it's a summer wine- it thinks – I would happily drink it all year round. That slight saltiness that you can taste, it reminds me of the movement of the waves".

BANQUETING COMPANIONS

Try it with salmon skewers with orange, wild fennel and pistachios, or with a puntarella salad or with aubergine panzerotti. For a first course, choose between rigatoni with a monkfish and tomato sauce, a seafood risotto or linguine with pistachio pesto and burrata. A few ideas for the main courses? Baked red sea bream with olives or a sea bream all'acqua pazza, or even a roasted stuffed cuttlefish.

*While waiting for the food to be prepared, you could start sipping the wine and reading Cucina d'amore e libertà (Cooking out of love and freedom) by Francesco Cavallo, Mandragora edition. In the background play White Wine by Lil Peep and Lil Tracy. Your glass (the wine is a homage to Virgil, the name is one of the characters in the Aeneid) will guide you through the entire meal, and beyond to watching Love's Kitchen directed by James Hacking.*
